

WORDIGO 2

A BENEFIT FOR
WRITE AROUND PORTLAND

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD

7:30-10:00 PM

PORTLAND ART CENTER

32 NW FIFTH AVENUE

GENERAL TICKETS:

$25 in advance

$35 at the door

SUPPORTERS: $50

Wordigo is truly a celebration of writing. The evening reflects the power of writing in community. All of the proceeds go to support Write Around Portland's unique model of writing workshops coupled with published anthologies and community readings.

Wordigo is a uniquely Portland event held at the Portland Art Center. There are word games (group madlibs and novellas to which everyone contributes!), local musicians and local authors featuring Monica Drake, author of Clown Girl, and Tom Spanbauer, author of Now Is the Hour. Erin Ergenbright of the Loggernaut Reading Series will host the evening.

"After a few hours of writing games and listening to readers at Wordigo, I realized that I received much more from the evening than just a chance to give back to Write Around Portland. I left feeling connected to other writers and inspired to pick up my own pen more often." — JANA DECRISTOFARO
